FACULTY & STAFF

ATHLETICS

Leo Uzcategui, in his first year as UB’s head volleyball coach, was named the 2009 East Coast Conference Co-Coach of the Year (with C. W. Post’s Shellane Ogoshi) by his peers.

BUSINESS

James Sagner, associate professor of business, published “How to Measure and Manage Liquidity Today” in the November/December 2009 issue of the Journal of Corporate Accounting and Finance. He also wrote an article, “Mergers and Acquisitions: Today’s Catalyst Is Working Capital,” in the new QFinance: The Ultimate Resource, published by Bloomsbury in London. His book, Cashflow Reengineering (1997), was selected by the editors of QFinance as one of the 100 “most influential finance books of all time. Ground-breaking and [a] most popular work.”

CHIROPRACTIC

James Lehman, assistant professor of clinical sciences, has written an abstract, “Coccygodynia: A Case Report of Post-Traumatic Pelvic Floor Pain Due to Active Myofascial Trigger Points,” which was presented at the Chiropractic and Osteopathic College of Australasia’s 8th Biennial Research Conference in Sydney, Australia, Nov. 20-22. The paper will be published in January.

EDUCATION

Margaret Queenan, assistant professor of educational reading and language arts, presented “‘An Ecosystem Might Have Something to Do with an Echo’: What Knowledge Can Be Gained from a Third Year of Qualitative Research?” at the annual conference of the Association for the Advancement of Educational Research, in November, and “Who Is Doing the Talking in the Classroom?” at the Connecticut Reading Association’s annual conference. In October she published the “President’s Message” in the CARReader, the publication of the Connecticut Association for Reading Research, of which she is president.

Did we miss something? UB Highlights is published twice monthly during the academic year and monthly in January, June, and July to inform the University community about UB events and achievements. To comment or to list your event or award, e-mail Rebecca Salonen, UBHighlights@bridgeport.edu, or call x4988.
